U. S. EXPOSES CAMOUFLAGE IN BAY STATE MURDER CASE

Sacco And Vanzetti Far From Martyrs

TRIAL REVIEWED

State Department, In Statement, Gives Facts

Note—The following statement relative to the famous "Sacco and Vanzetti" case has been sent broadcast over the world by the American State Department as a means of offsetting the tremendous propaganda that has been disseminated by American radicals who since the day the two murderers were arrested have been trying to make martyrs of them and to create the impression that American authorities were prosecuting them, not as criminals, but as political agents, i.e. radicals.

In response to this propaganda every radical in America rallied to the "Sacco and Vanzetti" banner. Mass meetings have been held continuously in all parts of the country, even in districts thousands of miles from the scene of the original crime. The Italian government has been importuned to make the case a diplomatic issue, and the radical press all over the world has fairly shrieked its "indignation."

This clear exposition of the case by the State department dissipates the fog with which it has been surrounded, and permits it to stand forth for exactly what it is—a plain, brutal, cold blooded murder by two armed thugs.

All sane and right thinking Americans who have followed the case sincerely hope that Sacco and Vanzetti, having been convicted by a jury of their peers, at a trial the fairness of which even they did not question, may dangle at the ends of two stout lengths of hemp in expiation of their crime—a crime that was as brutal, as the subjoined statement of facts will show, as the denials of it by the howling pack of terrorist wolves in America has been noisy.

Peking, March 18.—In view of the many inaccurate reports which have been published regarding the cases of Sacco and Vanzetti, the two Italians convicted of the murder of Mr. Frederick A. Parmenter and his guard at Braintree, Mass., in 1920, the American Department of State has obtained the following statement of the case dated January 27 from the Massachusetts authorities, and issued it to its diplomatic officers abroad for purposes of information:

On April 15, 1920, Frederick A. Parmenter, Paymaster of the Slater and Merrill Company, Braintree, Massachusetts, and Alexander Berardelli, his guard, while proceeding to the factory of the company with the weekly payroll, were shot to death without warning by two men who seized the payroll amounting to $17,776, and escaped in an automobile. On May 5, 1920, Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were arrested by Massachusetts police authorities and indicted for the murders of Parmenter and Berardelli.

ITALIAN NATIONALS

Both of the defendants were Italian nationals, as was Berardelli, one of the murdered men. The trial of the defendants began on May 31, 1920 in the Superior Court of Massachusetts of Dedham. The jury was drawn from 700 citizens of the County of Norfolk, the selection of the panel requiring five days. The defendants jointly had eighty-eight peremptory jury challenges and the Commonwealth had the same number.

Identification was the only issue raised at the trial, all other essential elements to prove murder in the first degree being admitted by counsel for the defendants as established. Indentification is, under Massachusetts law, a question of fact to be determined by the jury.

The defence, with a view to showing that Sacco and Vanzetti were not the assailants of Parmenter and Berardelli, introduced the testimony of witnesses that the defendants were not in the automobile in which the assailants fled from the scene of murder and called witnesses who stated that Sacco had been seen in Boston and Vanzetti in Plymouth at such times as would have made it im-

LYDIA LIPKOWSKA

Lydia Lipkowska, Here For Two Concerts, Sees Field For Music In Orient

Young Russian Singer Hopes To See Development Of Taste For Western Art In Orient—Tells Of Her "Radio" Audience

Lydia Lipkowska, the famous prima donna who has just arrived in the East from a successful season with the Chicago Opera Company will be heard in her first concert in Shanghai at the Olympic theater tonight. With her will appear Alexander Sklarevski, the pianist, in selections from Chopin and Lizst, as well as in the Theme and Variations of Glazounov.

Madame Lipkowska will sing Polegaeff's Folk Song, and will offer several lovely old English airs, in costume.

The beautiful young Russian singer whose star has been in the ascendancy continuously since her first appearance in Russia before the late Czar, has come to Shanghai direct from Japan where she was enthusiastically greeted in her concerts in Tokio and Kobe.

"The East is appealing to the West for the best in music," said Madame Lipkowska yesterday. "I am happy to be one of the first of the singers and artists who will, I believe, be drawn inevitably to the magnificent opportunities for concert appearance in the Orient.

"The Westerner in the Orient finds everything, practically, that he has at home except the opera, those concerts by well-known artists whose names are household words at home, and the opportunities for contemplation and study of the finest of the old pictures as well as the works of the newer painters.

"The greatest artists in the musical world today are enthusiastically greeting the plans which progressive managers are making for them to appear in the Orient as well as in those other corners of the world that are far removed from all the luxuries of our Western civilisation. They are in perfect accord with the desires of the white people who have settled in the Orient and in the far away places, for the best in music.

"From now on you will find more and more artists of the highest type traveling here and throughout the East, giving concerts where they are desired and will be appreciated.

"Altogether, I am tremendously impressed with Shanghai which, to my mind, combines Paris and Monte Carlo, so far as the gaiety and variety of its social life goes," finished Madame Lipkowska.

Although the young prima donna has undertaken the big task of being a pioneer in the field, and has made plans to sing in Manila and elsewhere throughout the East, she is essentially a home person and would prefer to stay in her own, or rather her adopted country, America, rather than circling the globe again.

"I am hopeful that the day of such perfection of the new radio machine for singing by wireless that the singer can stay in her room and send her voice echoing over thousands and thousands of miles with a clarity that, for her listeners, is as if they were in the next room to her, is near. I believe it is," she continued, "for when I sang into the radio instrument prepared for the purpose in the Westinghouse Company in Newark, N. J., recently, my voice was carried clearly over a radius of more than 100 miles, ashore and at sea. I had an audience of 1,000,000 people and I received almost a thousand unsolicited letters from people who told me they had heard me as clearly as if they had been in the next room to me."

Madame Lipkowska will sing again on Saturday night in Shanghai.

Japanese Consular Court May Settle Yangtsze Wharf Dispute, Says Peking Report

Agreement Said To Have Been Reached Between Foreign Office And Legation—Kaiyosha Company Replies To Commissioner

Peking, March 21.—The Japanese Legation and the Foreign Office agree that the Yangtsze Dock controversy had best be decided in court, although some dissatisfaction has been expressed on the Chinese side on the ground that the Chinese government, in the event of a suit, apparently will be compelled to take the action into the Japanese Consular court.

Following published reports concerning the probable forcible seizure of the Yangtsze wharf in Pootung the Defense Commissioner issued a statement—published yesterday in THE CHINA PRESS—setting forth the position of the Chinese Government in the controversy and indicating that the seizure of the wharf by force would take place on March 26.

Though the foregoing despatch from Peking would indicate that this is not to be done, no further utterances on the subject have been made by the Defense Commissioner.

In reply to the contentions advanced by the Defense Commissioner the Kaiyosha Company, through their attorneys Messrs. Ellis and Haya, issued another statement yesterday taking up various points of the controversy over the former German wharf. This statement follows:

COMPANY'S REPLY

"It is true that a question, not a complaint, as to repair of the wharf was raised by the Government. The Company informed the Government that not only had proper repairs been effected but that a sum of more than Tls. 22,000.00 had been expended upon them. It offered its figures for verification, but the Government did not accept the offer and continued to receive rent from the Company in respect of the wharf.

"After negotiations in respect of the renewal of the lease, and after the legal firm representing the Government had given, without reason ascribed, to the Company notice to quit, was it first suggested by the Government that the lease had become subject to forfeiture owing to non-repair by the Company. The Government cannot put an end to the agreement by the mere assertion that the Company has broken a term of the lease: it, like the Company, is a party to an ordinary civil contract: Nemo judex debet esse in sua causa: the fact that one party to a contract is a government department gives it no more right to decide (in its own favor) an issue of fact against the other party, than an ordinary citizen, in condimili casu, would have.

"As to clause 4 of the lease, which the Defense Commissioner quotes: this is a mutilated quotation. The most important words are left out. These are 'by the terms of such Peace' or which, in the clause, immediately precede the words 'by Governmental action' quoted by the Commissioner.

"The clause is designed to protect the Government in the event of its being compelled to hand over the wharf in consequence of a treaty or something akin to a treaty. The words 'Governmental action' follow the words 'Peace' and mean some public act akin to a peace-treaty.

"The clause of course does not mean that the Government can end the lease simply by sending troops down to the wharf and saying that that is 'Governmental action.' Could it have been the intention of the parties when the contract was made, that it could be so ended?

"We decline to believe that the Chinese Government entertains the crude designs attributed to them."

GEN. SMUTS SAYS RAND STRIKE WAS UNDERESTIMATED

Feared Another French Revolution, He Tells House

(Reuter's Service)

Johannesburg, March 20.—The Amalgamated Engineering Union has now called off the strike.

Johannesburg, March 20.—Three notorious rebels including a councillor and two Boer former Generals, who were hiding in the country have been discovered and brought here.

Capetown, March 20.—In a warmly applauded speech in the House of Assembly General Smuts declared that the gravity of the situation last week was not sufficiently recognised and there was no doubt that the revolutionaries wanted a Soviet Republic and expected assistance from the country. The Premier said he feared greatly that before the burghers could come revolutionary control would have been established in Johannesburg, and would be dealing out executions and creating a blood bath with slaughter comparable to that of the French Revolution. Thanks to the promptness of the country's response to the Government's appeal the situation had been changed and Johannesburg was now almost normal.

In addition to paying tribute to the Burghers, Police and the Durban Light Infantry (the last named was composed mostly of mere school-boys), General Smuts praised the composure of the natives. The fear that obsessed the Premier, owing to the wanton shooting of natives, was that a wild native outbreak might result, which the Government would have to quell, but the natives kept their heads.

The Government has decided to try the criminals by ordinary law, and adhered to its decision to appoint an industrial commission on which neither side would be represented, thus securing impartiality.

All U. S. Troops To Quit Rhine July 1

Washington, March 20.—Secretary Weeks issued orders directing all American troops on the Rhine to return to the United States by July first.

The Secretary explained that the action in withdrawing all of the army of occupation in Germany was merely a continuation of the policy previously announced for the withdrawing of troops, and was not influenced by the status of army legislation in Congress or the controversy over the payment for the upkeep of the troops in Germany.

SITUATION IN IRELAND TENSE; BOMBERS ACTIVE

Terrorism Rife In Belfast; Many People Are Killed

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 20.—The newspapers today give prominence to accounts of the terror in Belfast during the week end and the increase of the tension between the Ulster police and members of the Irish Republican Army on the frontier, as well as to the report of Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson to the Ulster Premier, formulating a scheme for the restoration of order in Belfast and the security of the frontier, in accordance with the Ulster Government's request.

Altogether four people were killed and eleven wounded in the bombings and shootings at Belfast during the week end, while the massing of forces on both sides of the Monaghan-Tyrone border, which has been proceeding for days past, ended in outbursts of firing on Saturday.

A detachment of the Irish Republican Army yesterday even raided the police barracks at Pomeroy, in Tyrone, overpowered the garrison and carried off their arms and ammunition in motor cars, having previously destroyed the bridges and cut the telegraph wires in order to prevent the arrival of reinforcements.

Sir Henry Wilson's report, after attacking Mr. Lloyd George as responsible for the anarchy and murder in South Ireland, advises Sir James Craig to "get Britain warmly on your side". He promises a wonderful improvement in the situation as a result of the measures he outlines for the strengthening of Ulster's forces.

SIR EVERARD FRASER

Chamber Of Commerce Reviews Work Of Year At Its Annual Meeting

Tariff Revision, Extraterritoriality, Pilots' Fees Occupy Attention Of Body; Elect Committee; Tribute Paid To Sir Everard Fraser

Profound regret for the death of Sir Everard Fraser, British Consul-General, was voiced at the annual general meeting of the Shanghai General Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon by the Chairman, Mr. E. C. Pearce.

The meeting was held at 1 Yuen Ming Yuen Road at 4 o'clock and Mr. Pearce was supported by members of the committee, while a large number of the membership were in attendance. Before proceeding with his annual address Mr. Pearce said:

"Before proceeding with the business of the meeting I should like to place on record the most sincere regret we all feel at the sudden and untimely death of the Senior Consul-General, Sir Everard Fraser, K.C.M.G., which took place in the early hours of this morning.

"Apart from his endearing qualities as a man and a friend he has always taken a most active interest in the welfare of the Port, more particularly in his position as Senior Consul and the Community as a whole will keenly mourn the great loss which it has suffered through his death. Our deepest sympathies go out to Lady Fraser, his family and relatives."

Mr. Pearce then delivered the chairman's annual speech, as follows:

"Gentlemen, the report and accounts for the year ending December 31 last having been in your hands for some time, I will with your permission take them as read. Before moving their adoption however I will refer briefly to some of the more important matters which have come to the notice of your Committee during the past year. The report in itself gives you a very intelligent review of the different matters which have come under the notice of your Committee during the year and leave little for me to add.

"Your thanks are due to the sub-committees who have sat and devoted a considerable amount of time to the subjects of storage of benzine, regulations concerning the handling of phosphorus and chlorate of potash, and the Pilot Board.

STORAGE OF BENZINE

"Taking them in order. Regarding the storage of benzine, the position at the moment is that the opinion of the Committee of Consulting Engineers was asked for and their recommendation is as follows:

(1) That the present limit for the discharge of bulk gasoline, benzine, etc., should not be moved further up the river, and

(2) That discharge and storage of gasoline, benzine, etc., should be restricted to a single locality and in the manner they have already described.

"The Customs have been addressed enquiring what steps they intended to take in order to assist the trade: they have replied that no decision has yet been arrived at. At the request of the Asiatic Petroleum Co. your Committee have again addressed the Consular Body to which we await an answer and can only hope that a satisfactory result will eventually be achieved.

"With reference to the regulations for the treatment of chlorate of potash and phosphorus which are dealt with in the report before you, it is stated that the proposed amended regulations will be published. A hitch, however, in the negotiations has occurred and further relaxation of the restrictions have been asked for by the Consular Body which will necessitate a further meeting of this sub-committee.

PILOT BOARD

"The Pilot Board approved of certain amendments to the rules governing the pilotage service as detailed in the report. We have now been approached on the question of the present pilotage tariff, this matter will have to be carefully considered at the next meeting of this sub-committee.

"With reference to the report on the Woosung-Hankow Pilot Association, the 'Regulations for Pilotage on the Lower Yangtsze' having been repudiated by the Customs authorities, another form of agreement was subsequently drawn up cancelling the regulations above referred to; the new agreement was mutually agreed to by the members of the Woosung-Hankow Pilot Association and received the approval and support of the British Senior Naval Officer Commanding on the Yangtsze, the Shanghai Marine Underwriters' Association, and this Chamber.

HARBOR INVESTIGATION

"One of the most interesting documents recently issued on the vital question of the harbor and river approaches to Shanghai has been the very able report drawn up by the Committee of Consulting Engineers at the request of the Whangpoo Conservancy Board. This report has been read with a great deal of care by all interested in the future welfare of the trade of this port which is so dependent upon a good deep water access. I think you will all agree with me that the recommendation for the dredging of the Fairy Flats is one that must be taken in hand as soon as possible if Shanghai is to retain its importance as a huge distributing center.

"With reference to the recommendation of the Consultative Committee for a new scheme in the management of the Port, i.e. the revision of the existing Whangpoo Conservancy Agreement of 1912 and the expansion of the present board into a new

City Mourns Loss Of Great British Citizen

SERVED 42 YEARS

Burial To Take Place At Bubbling Well Cemetery

A wave of deepest regret passed through Shanghai yesterday when it became known that Sir Everard D. H. Fraser, K.C.M.G., British Consul-General, had passed away during the early hours of the morning, following a heart attack.

While his end was not entirely unexpected to his physician and those closest to him, news of Sir Everard's death came with a shock to practically all of the foreign community and to the host of Chinese officials, merchants and others who were his confreres and friends and who found it hard to realise that the active, genial and able personality had been removed.

Foreigners and Chinese of all stations united in tribute to the Senior British Consular representative and in expressions of profound sympathy for his bereaved family and the flags of all nations flew at half-mast from offices, clubs and homes during the day.

BODY AT CATHEDRAL

The body of the late Consul-General was brought to Holy Trinity Cathedral at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and placed in the Memorial Chapel, where it will remain until the services tomorrow.

The first part of the funeral service will be held in the Cathedral 4 o'clock tomorrow after noon. Dean Symons will officiate and the choir will be in attendance. Interment will be at Bubbling Well Cemetery, where the final rites will be held at 5 o'clock. On next Sunday morning it is likely that a memorial service will be held at the Cathedral, with Bishop Molony preaching.

Members of the Consular Body, Municipal and government officials, officers of the S.V.C. and of the British Navy, Boy Scouts and others will be in attendance at the services. The Baden Powell Scouts will parade in the Cathedral compound before the services there and senior members of the organisation will also parade at the cemetery.

The British members of the S.V.C., together with British navy men, will parade at Bubbling Well Cemetery at 4:30 p.m., falling in West of the Chapel. The S.V.C. men will line the route from the Chapel to the grave side and three sides of a square about the grave, the fourth side of the square being formed by Navy men. The Last Post will be sounded by Sergt. Major Hearne of "A" Company.

DEATH IS SUDDEN

Sir Everard's death came shortly after midnight yesterday morning. When smitten he rose in bed to call for help and fell back, helpless. Dr. W. B. Billingburst was summoned without delay and hurried to the bedside, but the stricken man had passed away before his arrival.

The passing of Sir Everard Fraser marks the close of 42 years of able and devoted service for his Government, the past eleven being spent in charge of the Consulate-General here. Coming first to China as a student interpreter in 1880, Sir Everard has held Consular posts in Foochow, Canton, Shanghai, Chemulpo, Korea, and in all of the Yangtsze ports from Ichang to the sea. His career has been one full of honor and he won the esteem and affection of all with whom he came in contact in each of the cities to which his service took him.

Sir Everard Duncan Home Fraser was born at Portobello, near Edinburgh, Scotland, on February 27, 1859, and was thus in his 63rd year. His father was Lieutenant-Coloney R. W. Fraser, B. N. I. He was educated in Aberdeen and entered his country's service, with his appointment as student interpreter in China when he was 21, on March 30, 1890. In 1886 he became Acting Consul at Foochow, going to Kiukiang to assume a similar post three years later. He was Acting Consult at Ichang from June 1, 1889 to January 11, 1891 and then went to Chemulpo for the only space spent in service out of China—from 1891 to 1892, coming back to take the post of Acting Consul at Chungking on July 1 of that year.

GOES TO CANTON

He was promoted to be 1st Assistant December 1, 1893 and became Vice-Consul at Canton in December 1895, serving there until October 1897. In October of the latter year he was promoted Vice-Consul at Pagoda Island and became Consul at Chinkiang May 13,1899. He was again in Foochow in 1898-99 as Acting Consul and was made C. M. G. January 1, 1901. He was acting Consul-General at Hankow in 1900 and 1901, when he was made Consul-General. He was transferred to Shanghai January 20, 1911, in which year he also received the Coronation Medal. He was made K. C. M. G. June 14, 1912.

Sir Everard was senior to all members of the British Consular service in China, in length of service, and had filled the post of Consul-General here about a month longer than his predecessor, Mr. P. S. Hughes. But one other Consular official ever spent more years in one city of China. This is Sir Daniel Brooke Robertson.

Sir Everard was married on March 1, 1899, to Constance, daughter of Mr. A. W. Walkinshaw of Foochow. Lady Fraser, two sons and two daughters survive. One son is at Oxford, another at Winchester, and one daughter, Mrs. Gardner, is living in the United States. The younger daughter is living in Shanghai.

During his years in office here Sir Everard endeared himself not only to the members of the British community but to nationals of the other countries represented in this cosmopolitan Settlement as well and his death constitutes a very distinct loss for Great Britain in China. Serving here during the trying days of the great war by his tact and ready comprehension he did much for the Allied cause and his efforts in behalf of war charities were untiring and productive of most gratifying results.

DEVOTED TO SPORTS

Busy as he ever was with the duties of his office he yet found time to associate himself with activities outside and his keen interest in many branches of sport was also a factor in endearing him to his own and other nationals here. He was a familiar figure at the Cricket Club and lent his encouragement to many another athhletic organisations as well, particularly to those of the younger generation.

He was head of the Baden Powell Boy Scouts here and was at all times greatly interested in the welfare of this and kindred organisations of the British youth of Shanghai.

In recounting the activities of Sir Everard Fraser's life—and he was active up to the day of his death, being at his desk at the Consulate on Monday—mention should be made of his reputation as a Chinese scholar. He had mastered the Chinese wen-li, a rare accomplishment among foreigners, and was well read in Chinese literature, while his insight into Chinese affairs was keen and sympathetic.

Sir Everard's death takes from Shanghai a revered official, a kind and sympathetic friend and a valued citizen, whose loss will be felt for many days to come.

Prominent Men Pay Tribute To Late Sir Everard Fraser

BY MR. E. S. CUNNINGHAM
(United States Consul-General)

"The death of Sir Everard Fraser is a great shock: his loss will be a heavy one to the entire community. His long experience in China and service in Shanghai peculiarly fitted him for the position of Senior Consul and to preside over the deliberations of the Consular body. As such, he won the respect and affection of all his colleagues.

"Sir Everard Fraser was always found anxious to promote the best of Anglo-American relations; and co-operation between Americans and British appeared to be a matter that was very near to him.

"His sudden death arouses the greatest sympathy for his family in their bereavement and for his countrymen in their deprivation of his valued services on their behalf."

BY DEAN C. J. F. SYMONS
(Of Holy Trinity Cathedral)

"The tragically sudden death of Sir Everard Fraser comes as a very great shock to us all, for while some of his friends knew that his health had been failing latterly he heroically disguised the fact by continuing his arduous consular duties and attending to the many calls for his time outside. And herein will Sir Everard be remembered by us all—his forgetfulness of self in his desire to help on the world's work.

"He took a practical interest in all that goes to make up the best of the life of this busy port: its religious, civil, social and sporting activities.

"Sir Everard was a courtly gentleman of the old school with a highly trained intellectual grasp of modern requirements. In disposition of a retiring nature, he had 'a soul at leisure from itself to sympathise'. To many of us we have lost our best friend, to all he yet lives in what he was—a fine example of a God-fearing British gentleman."

BY MR. A. BROOKE SMITH
(Chairman of the Municipal Council)

"The death of Sir Everard Fraser will be a serious loss to the community in general and particularly to British subjects."

"As Senior Consul he was at all times approachable and listened with sympathy to the many difficulties that are encountered by the Council, who necessarily feel that they have lost a friend who was intimately acquained with the intricacies of Government in this Settlement."

BY H. E. HSU YUAN
(Commissioner of Foreign Affairs)

"In my relations with Sir Everard Fraser since I assumed my present office, I have found him to be in the through sympathy with Chinese viewpoints, due to his intimate knowledge of Chinese affairs acquired during his long sojourn in this country. Our relations have been exceedingly cordial, marked by a spirit of mutual understanding, in spite of the difficulties presented by some of the problems which we have been called upon to solve."

BY MR. C. C. NIEH
(Chairman of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce)

"The sad news of the death of Sir Everard Fraser with whom I had the honor and pleasure of being acquainted, came as a great shock to me for in Sir Everard Fraser the Chinese community had a true friend who was ever willing to lend his assistance to the improvement of the commercial relations between the Chinese and the British as well as the relations between the Chinese population of the International Settlement and the Municipal Council.

"He had the welfare of the Chinese community at heart and listened to all representations on their part with attentive and sympathetic ears.

"It was this admirable spirit that won for him the full confidence and support of the Chinese community.

"At a time when international co-operation constitutes the dominant factor of the development of this port, the passing away of the venerable figure whose death the whole town laments, leaves a gap that cannot be easily filled."

BY MR. E. C. PEARCE
(Chairman of the General Chamber of Commerce and Former Chairman of the Municipal Council)

"Apart from his endearing qualities as a man and a friend he has always taken a most active interest in the welfare of the port, more particularly in his position as Senior Consul, and the community as a whole will keenly mourn the great loss which it has suffered through his death. Our deepest sympathies go out to Lady Fraser, his family and relatives."

Camouflage Seen In Murder Case

possible for them to have been present in South Braintree at the time of the murders.

The defence also offered testimony at the trial with a view to discrediting certain witnesses called by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. However, the testimony of eye-witnesses and other evidence offered by the Commonwealth established the guilt of Sacco and Vanzetti to the satisfaction of the jury. Among other evidence introduced, the Commonwealth offered the testimony of eye-witnesses that the defendant Sacco was the person who shot down Berardelli, and that Sacco and Vanzetti were among the occupants of the automobile in which the assailants fled from the scene of the murder.

STATE'S EVIDENCE

The Commonwealth also introduced evidence to show that the defendants had come to the town of Braintree on the morning of April 15, 1920, that the car in which the assailants fled from the scene of the crime was abandoned near West Bridgewater, Massachusetts, on the same evening, and that Sacco and Vanzetti boarded an electric car at that place for Brockton, Massachusetts, late that evening. When Sacco and Vanzetti were arrested on May 5 they were both armed, and on the way to the police station made several efforts to draw their weapons. Both of them made false statements to the police authorities and to the District Attorney regarding the places and time of procuring their weapons, and also regarding their movements just prior to their arrest. Expert testimony was introduced to show that the bullets which killed Berardelli were fired from a pistol found on Sacco at the time of his arrest. Evidence was also introduced to show that the revolver found on Vanzetti was owned and carried by Berardelli at the time he was shot. A cap found on the ground beside Berardelli was shown to be similar to one possessed and worn by Sacco prior to the murder. This cap when tried on by Sacco before the jury fitted him perfectly.

BOTH WERE RADICALS

The fact that the two men had for several years been engaged in radical activities was not brought out at the trial by the Commonwealth but was introduced by counsel for the defense for the purposing of proving to the jury that the acts and statements of the accused while under arrest tending to indicate consciousness of guilt of the crime were in reality done and said from fear that they might be treated harshly as radicals and deported.

The trial of the case consumed about seven weeks. The Commonwealth called in the neighborhood of sixty witnesses and the defendants called about one hundred. At the conclusion of the evidence neither defendant filed any request for specific instructions to the jury on the part of the presiding Justice and at the conclusion of the charge to the jury delivered by the Justice neither defendant took any exception to the charge nor to any portion thereof. On July 14, 1921, verdicts of "Guilty of murder in the first degree" as to both defendants in both cases were returned by the jury after a deliberation lasting five hours.

Motions for new trials were filed in both cases, one based on the assumption that the verdict of the jury was contrary to the weight of the evidence and another based on alleged irregularities in the jury room. On December 24, 1921, Judge Thayer denied the first motions but reserved decision on the second. Counsel for the defendants stated exceptions to the decision on the first motion and have announced their intention of taking an appeal to the Supreme Court of Massachusetts.

Iron Production In Japan Decreases

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, March 13.—The output of the iron and steel industry in Japan has fallen off considerably since 1919 and a further reduction is looked for when armament limitation becomes effective.

Mr. Yamamoto, the Minister of Commerce and Agriculture told the members of the Budget Committee of the House of Peers, this afternoon, that the production of the Yawata Steel Works for 1919 amounted to six hundred and ten thousand (610,000) tons of pig iron, and five hundred and fifty thousand (550,000) tons of steel. In 1921 the output was five hundred thousand (500,000) tons of pig iron and five hundred thirty thousand (530,000) tons of steel.

Mr. Shirane, chief of the Yawata Works said that foreign iron and steel are imported and sold at lower prices than the Japanese manufacturers can meet and that the armament limitations would reduce the output of finished steel by about sixty thousand (60,000) tons annually.

SUGGESTING A SECOND ACCOUNT

The old idea in business was to get trade from your competitors—the new plan is to develop unrealized opportunities. The progressive bank of today depends for much of its growth on the improved financial habits of the public. It seeks to induce people who have NEVER saved money to COMMENCE saving it, and to persuade those who previously have saved a LITTLE to save even MORE.

So even if you already have one account, we suggest the wisdom of opening a second account with us either for savings or for some other special purposes.

EGYPT AND CHINA SHOW SIMLARITY IN MYTHOLOGY

Mr. Charles Kliene Gives Interesting Talk On Early Religion

Interesting comparisons between the mythology of ancient Egypt and the earliest religion of China were drawn yesterday afternoon by Mr. Charles Kliene at a meeting of the American Woman's Club held in the Carlton Cafe. Mr. Kliene pointed out that Confucianism was antedated by a monotheistic religion closely resembling the early Egyptian faith. The older creed was absorbed later by Buddhism, Confucianism and Taoism, ceasing to exist as a separate entity and becoming so completely fused that its elements are difficult to distinguish.

The most significant legacy of the ancient cult, according to the speaker, is the worship of Shang-ti, Supreme Ruler of Heaven, who was adored once a year by the Emperor from as early as 2953 B.C. to the establishment of the Republic. A gorgeous ritual, culminating in the offering of burnt sacrifices and the intercission of the Emperor, was carried out in the Peking Temple of Heaven at the coming of the Winter Solstice. Functioning as High Priest for his people, the Emperor wore blue, the color of the sky, and worshipped under the open heaven, where no earthly thing could interfere with his contemplation of Shang-ti. Anyone besides the Emperor who ventured to sacrifice to Heaven incurred the risk of the death penalty.

Mr. Kliene traced a definite resemblance between this ceremony and certain annual rituals followed in Egypt and Palestine. The offering of burnt sacrifices, he said, was one of the certain links between China and the ancient West. There is also a striking similarity between the character for "sun" in the Chinese and Egyptian languages.

Mythology and fable developed after the Chinese, like other Oriental peoples, personified abstract characteristics and the forces of nature. These stories, intended at first to be symbolic, soon built up a subsidiary theology and obscured the teachings of the original monotheistic religion. It often happens that symbols in religion lose their original meaning when considered by an uneducated or literal-minded people. Thus it was that the original faith of China became entrusted by many religious legends, a number of which have Egyptian counterparts.

MRS. WHITE TO SPEAK

Mrs. H. A. Wibur, chairman of the Literary Department, was called upon to preside after the close of the business meeting. Members of the B.W.A. Literary Section were special guests of the occasion. Mrs. Wilbur announced that the next meeting of the Literary Department will take place in the Royal Asiatic Society Hall on March thirty-first, the speakers to be Mrs. F. J. White, who is to discuss "Confucian Literature," and Miss Lucille Douglass, who will speak on "The Development of Art in the Chow Dynasty."

The Mothers' Department, according to announcement, will meet in the Carlton Cafe on April fifth at 10:00 a.m. when Miss Austin of the American School is to speak on "Children's Music." The Easter egg-rolling party, to be given by the department, will take place April fifteenth in Jessfield Park. Mrs. Edwin Wampner will be glad to receive the names of American children for the mailing of invitations, whether they have any connection with the club or not.

A dinner for Mrs. J. G. Schurman, wife of the American Minister, is being planned by the club for the evening of March twenty-eighth. The place will be announced later.

Peking-Suiyuan Extension Held Up

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, March 19.—According to the Ministry of Communications it was estimated that about $6,746,000 was needed for the construction of the Suiyuan Paoto section which was scheduled to start last September. Due to lack of funds and severe winter at Suiyuan, however, the work has been delayed. The authorities of the Peking-Suiyuan Railway now plan to build the new section on the most economical basis by erecting only temporary bridges, stations and buildings in order to open the traffic between Suiyuan and Paoto as soon as possible.

The steel rails and sleepers have already been bought by the railway. At present $1,255,000 at least is needed for labor, materials, supervision and the purchase of land in connection with the construction of the new section. If the laying of track can be started in May traffic to Paoto may be opened in October. If the work can commence earlier the traffic may be opened in June or July.

S. R. A. Out To Boost Small Bore Shooting

Ilbert Next Tuesday Will Read Paper Advocating Small Gun

Small bore rifle shooting will soon have the chief interest of local riflemen, if the campaign of the Shanghai Rifle Association carries through. A paper by Mr. O. L. Ilbert supporting the smaller bore rifle practice, given out in advance yesterday, will be read before the association and its guests in the new lecture room of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps at the Municipal Offices on Foochow Road next Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. The S. R. A. Committee is working solidly to popularise the smaller gun.

Cheapness for practice in marksmanship is the first and one of the most important factors mentioned in Mr. Ilbert's paper. Practice with a .22 calibre rifle costs $1.50 or less per 100 rounds as compared to .303 calibre shooting at $4 per 100 rounds, revolver shooting at about $6 per 100 and clay pigeon shooting at about $7 per 100.

Mr. Ilbert urges the use of the smaller calibered gun for members of the S. V. C., who with the .303 rifle have reached their maximum of efficiency. Practice at home with the small gun will improve one's marksmanship, he advises. And should the neighbors complain, a Maxim Silencer may be used.

The paper then goes on with paragraphs on the choice of rifle, The B. S. A. No. 12, No. 8 and No. 19 models, as compared with the Vickers .22 Calibre Rifle, enumerating their advantages and their faults. The trigger pull, targets suitable for the small bore gun, spotting, marking and cleaning are all discussed.

The S. R. A. through its committee is out to put this small bore gun over for local marksmen. They are pledged to do their utmost to help toward its adoption. They invite, however, the support of all their members, to insure success to the movement.

At the meeting next week Mr. Ilbert will read his paper, and with every marksman, either from the S. V. C. or civilian life present, and in an open frame of mind, it is confidentially expected that a unanimous vote will be recorded for the introduction of the smaller bore gun in the S. R. A. and other local competitions.

HURON BASKET PLAYERS BEAT ALBANY, 36-12

Manila, P. I., March 7.—The U. S. S. Huron quintet defeated the U. S. S. Albany easily by a score of 36 to 12 here today. The Huron men displayed wonderful team work in passing the ball and working their signals. The Albany men fought hard throughout but they didn't seem to have received very good training, very little team work and too many long shots instead of working up near the goal and making sure of short shots. Hostettler, Kane and Captain Scymanski starred for the Huron while Tierney looked best for the Albany.

The line up:

Huron, 36		Albany, 12
Scymanski, (Capt)	L. F.	Ferguson
Kane,	R. F.	Tierney,
Lindsey,	C.	Liddy,
Lugar,	L. G.	Lusk, (Capt)
Hostettler,	R. G.	Cahill,

Goals—Scymanski 6, Kane 5, Lindsey 2, Hostettler 4, Tierney 3, Liddy 2. Foul goals: Scymanski 2 out of 3. Liddy 2 out of 3. Personal fouls—Kane, Hendricks and Cahill. Substitutions: Huron, Hendricks for Lugar, Simer for Lindsey, Lindsey for Hendricks. Time of halves 15 minutes. 10 minute interval. Scorer Norvell.

Hongkong Ponies Auctioned Off At Small Prices

Hongkong, March 2.—At the Jockey Club Stables, Causeway Bay, yesterday afternoon, Mr. A. E. W. Davis, of Messrs. Hughes and Hough, conducted a sale of 65 of the ponies which took part in the race meeting concluded last Saturday. There was a large number of prospective buyers present, and the prices realised amounted to just over $4,000. With the exception of Hongkong Chief which brought $1,050 and seven other ponies, competition for which was keen, moderate prices were realised in most cases, several ponies being knocked down at $20 each. The bidding for Hongkong Chief, which started at $300, was confined to Mr. H. P. White and Mr. A. M. L. Soares. The price rose steadily by bids of $100 and later $50, until eventually the pony was sold to Mr. Soares for $1,050. The next highest price was fetched by Repulse Bay Chief, which was sold to Mr. H. M. H. Nemazee for $300. Messrs. G. H. Potts and Ellis Hayim's Cutty Sark King was withdrawn at $500, while there were no offers for Hurry Up, the winner of three races. All seven of the late Sir Ellis Kadoorie's Chiefs were offered for sale, and they realised $1,645.

Freddie Williams Nearly Takes Title From Villon

Floors Far Eastern Champ For First Time In Career Then Loses By K. O.

Manila, March 12.—After staggering the champion with a right straight to the face in the first round and scoring a knockdown in the second with a right to the body Freddie Williams of Boston lost by a knockout in the fourth round of what ought to have been a 15 round championship fight at the Olympic Stadium last night, a victim of terrific body punches of Macario Villon, feather and lightweight champion of the Orient.

Williams outboxed Villon and had him guessing in the first round and staggered him with a right straight to the face and scored a knockdown in the second but his shortlived success made him a little bit bold and instead of keeping away from the champion by working his left like a piston rod he traded blows and easily fell a victim to Villon's forte, body blows.

After much small fighting in the first round Williams let go a straight right which landed on Villon's face. The champ staggered to the ropes. Williams was on him determined to end the fight then and there but Villon showed his admirable recuperative power. He stepped to the middle of the ring and faced his opponent and then the bell sounded. Villon was outboxed in this round. He did not like the idea but could not help it.

The second round saw Villon knocked down for the first time in his career at least in Manila. Again he used his head by waiting for the count of nine. He got up and fought fiercely but Williams could not topple his man over.

The 3rd round saw Villon asserting his superiority over the challenger. His body punches began to tell and although Freddie did not show it later happenings proved it. They rushed at each other with Villon inflicting hard blows. Williams began to show the effect of the blows. It was the beginning of the end. Villon knew it. Williams' punches lost their sting.

The fourth round told the same story as the third. Villon bored in to plant his wicked body blows. He landed a right to the face. Williams was weakening fast. A cut over the left eye was opened. Villon had Williams groggy in the early part of the round. A left to the body sent Freddy down for the count of eight. He got up but was crowded by Villon who landed a left to the body and right to the face knocking Williams down for the count.

The fight was one of the most sensational encounters seen at the Stadium. The fact that a championship was at stake and the fact that the champ was endangered and the victory afterward of the champion who turned the tables on his challenger made the fight a great one.

CHIHLI FARMERS SHUN MARKETS AS TAX PROTEST

Ten Thousand Men Beslege Governor At Shanhaikwan

BY JOSEF W. HALL.
Staff Correspondent of The China Press.

Peking, March 17.—A member of the Peking Bureau of the China Press who has made a personal trip of investigation reports that ten thousand countrymen are besieging Shanhaikwan as a result of the attempt of the Civil Governor of Chihli, Tsao Jui, to impose an added likin tax on trade in the agricultural products of the district. At Tsangchow a mob has compelled the would-be likin-collector to flee the city, and at Tangshan, the large mining-town where are located the Kailan Mining Administration's principal coal mines, as well as Shanhaikwan, the bi-weekly markets are not being held. As a result of the refusal of the peasants to bring in their produce to these markets considerable suffering is being experienced by the townsmen and the unrest is spreading to the cities.

The ninety villages of Lin Yu County, in which are located the important cities of Shanhaikwan and Chinwangtao and the summer resort of Peitaiho, have despatched a representative of each family to wait upon the county magistrate at Shanhaikwan until the recently announced imposts shall be publicly withdrawn.

This army of men has come equipped with blankets, food supplies and cooking utensils and are camping in the south and east suburbs of the border city while the special police hold the city gates against their entrance.

OFFICIAL HELPLESS

The official is helpless to handle the situation; and although he is making no attempt to enforce under present circumstances the collection of the objectionable impost, the farmers refuse to disperse to their homes until the abandonment of the projected tax is officially announced. Such announcement, of course, must come from the provincial governor. Meanwhile the local officials are between the devil and the deep sea.

Governor Tsao Jui has come in for much criticism from both Chinese and foreigners, who see in his attempt to increase the nefarious likin system at this time, and particularly in such a prominent district as that upon the Chinese-Manchurian border, an evidence of bad faith toward the promises of likin abolition given the powers by the Chinese delegates at Washington.

GOVERNOR'S EXCUSE

The governor's excuse is that he is acting under pressure from his brother, Military Governor and Supertuchun Tsao Kun, who needs the added revenue to pay his soldiers: which confession, of course, inspires more caustic comment upon the degraded governmentation prevalent in China and the fallacy of accepting any promises of reform given through its representatives.

It is likely that the co-ordinated popular opposition will compel the Chihli governors to desist from this their latest attempt to muict their people. An encouraging feature of the affair is the demonstration, as in the case of the recent attempt to impose likins along the Peking-Suiyuan Railway, that China's Verres are compelled to modify their methods before the united opposition of the people affected, be they merchants or peasants.

S.V.C. Ceremonial Order

3.—The route of the coffin from the Chapel to the grave-side will be subsequently lined by the above members of the Corps, as also three sides of a square around the grave-side, the fourth (South) side being manned by the Royal Navy.

4.—Officers wishing to attend the service at the Cathedral at 4 p.m. may do so provided that at least one officer per unit is present at the fall in of the unit at the Cemetery in time to take up their places with their units before the coffin passes from the chapel to the grave-side.

5.—All ranks will remain covered during the procession from the chapel until the coffin arrives at the grave-side when they will uncover, and remain thus until the conclusion of the sounding of the Last Post.

body with more extended powers and more directly representing shipping trade interests. The Chamber has been approached for an expression of opinion on the subject with a view to arriving, if possible, at an unanimous opinion from all the foreign commercial interests in the port. Your Chamber in Committee have appointed a sub-committee to go carefully into this important question and the result of their deliberations is awaited with interest.

CHINA TARIFF REVISION

"In accordance with a decision arrived at the Washington Conference a Tariff Revision Commission has been appointed and will shortly commence its sittings to deal with bringing the present China Import Tariff to an effective 5 percent. The revision is to proceed as rapidly as possible with a view to its completion within four months from the date of the resolution drawn up at the Conference. The intention is that the revised tariff shall become effective as soon as possible but not earlier than two months after its publication by the Revision Committee.

EXTERRITORIALITY

"The International Commission arranged for at the Washington Conference to be appointed this Spring, to enquire into and report upon the present conditions in China with regard to the rendition of extra-territoriality, has as far as we know, not yet been appointed.

THE PROPOSED MINT

"In his speech last year your Chairman informed you that the Chinese Government had announced a scheme for the establishment of a mint in Shanghai and that the Foreign Exchange Bankers' Association had laid down certain conditions with regard to its successful working, and on the assumption that the Chinese Government would be willing to concede these conditions the scheme would be welcomed. I understand, however, that nothing so far has been done as regards construction work, and it is not expected that any progress will be made before the end of the present year, when the first consignment of machinery is expected to arrive. No arrangements as yet have been made for foreign control beyond the engagement of an American engineer who is reported to have had some mint experience in the Philippines. In this matter, I think I cannot do better than quote the resolution which was passed at the Associated British Chamber of Commerce Conference in November last, viz.

That this Conference regrets that the obligations to reform the currency, undertaken by the Chinese Government in the British Commercial Treaty of 1902 with China, and also in Treaties between other Foreign Powers and China, remains unfulfilled; that the Conference regards this long delayed reform as urgent and of vital importance to the interests of the Chinese people and of all who trade with or have business in China; and records its conviction that to the sound planning and successful execution of this great and complex work throughout China must be applied, in effective form, the best available foreign assistance and supervision; and that the proposed Shanghai Mint, if its operations are to further rather than retard the cause of complete currency reform, must be so assisted and supervised from the outset.

MEMBERSHIP REDUCED

"The roll of membership shows a reduction of 7 as compared with last year. This is rather sad if one considers the importance of this international body to the general commerce of the Settlement. Your Committee has been called upon to deal with an increasing number of investigations and their advice and suggestions are continuously sought in matters which could not be referred to any one of the National Chambers. The report deals only with the outstanding activities of your Committee, but many matters of minor importance, including numerous trade enquiries, come their way during the year and I trust that the excellent work done by the Chamber may not fail to result in a considerably increased membership during the ensuing year."

The passing of the report was proposed by the Chairman, seconded by Mr. C. G. S. Mackie and carried unanimously. The following gentlemen were then unanimously elected to serve on the Committee for 1922, being proposed en bloc by the chairman and seconded by Mr. H. W. Lester.

Messrs. C. W. Atkinson, N. S. Brown, P. W. Massey, C. G. S Mackie, V. Meynard, M. Nodaira, J. J. Paterson, E. C. Pearce, N. Lees-Smith, G. H. Stitt.

ARMSTRONG TO ASK ANNULMENT OF HIS SENTENCE

Assault Case To Be Reopened In U. S. Court Today

Attorneys representing Mr. G. T. Armstrong, who was convicted of committing an assault on a riesha coolie, will make an effort tomorrow in the court of U. S. Commissioner E. J. Schuhl to have set aside a jail sentence of 48 hours which was imposed in addition to a fine of $50 and an order to pay $15 to the riesha boy.

Following the original hearing which took place before Commissioner Schuhl last Saturday morning Mr. Armstrong gave notice that he would take an appeal from the judgment and by reason of this he was not obliged to serve the jail sentence, as the case would come up for rehearing in the higher court.

Late yesterday, however, through his attorneys, Messrs. Faisch and Williams, Mr. Armstrong withdrew his appeal to the higher court and in connection with this action he filed a petition asking that the jail sentence be set aside.

In the papers filed it is set forth that the appeal is withdrawn as Mr. Armstrong shortly is leaving China, not to return, so that he could not be present at a future hearing of the case in the United States Court for China. In the plea for remission of the prison sentence it is urged that the purpose of the severe penalty, in so far as it is an example to the general public, already has been served by reason of the publicity that has been given to the case.

The hearing on this petition is to be held by Commissioner Schuhl at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Police On Trail Of Bad Bank Notes

Police are investigating the appearance here of a quantity of spurious bank notes originally issued in Peking but altered in such a manner as to give them the appearance of having been issued here. An exchange dealer to whose shop on Avenue Edward VII the notes were traced told the police he had bought a number of the $5 notes at $1.60 each and had been selling them at $3. A charge against one of his customers that was called yesterday in the Mixed Court before American Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Li was continued.

A Man's A Man, Even If He Is A Preacher
Which is stronger—a man's religion or his love? We are inclined to believe that when that crack shot, little Dan Cupid, sends a love arrow into the heart of a preacher, said preacher behaves very much like any other man in love. Can a preacher be jealous? What about his Christian charity? Well, charity is said to cover a multitude of sins, but it isn't on record in the good book or elsewhere that the multitude includes stealing another man's girl. Suppose you were the preacher, and a slick city guy stole your girl. Would you hate him? Would you by jealous?

CHINESE LAWYERS IN DISPUTE OVER ELECTION QUORUM

Protest Filed With Ministry Seeking To Annul Results Of Annual Meeting

A controversy has developed over the annual election of the Chinese Bar Association of Shanghai, which took place here on Sunday and resulted in the naming of Mr. Chang Yi-pang, former Vice-Minister of Justice as president. Mr. Wang Yen-lun has filed a protest with the Ministry of Justice on the ground that there was no quorum present at the annual meeting.

The number of lawyers attending the Sunday meeting was 83 while the total membership of the association is 200 in Shanghai. One hundred and one should be the recognised quorum, but it is maintained, on the other hand, that only 153 are actually on the membership roll, because the remaining 47 have forfeited their right to vote and hold office on account of their failure to pay their dues.

Mr. Wang's petition seeks to annul the election held on Sunday, and suggested that no election be held valid until a quorum is secured for the annual meeting.

To Make Partial Payment On Wine And Tobacco Loan

Peking Promises To Repay Half Million By March 31

Part payment will be made by the end of this month to redeem the G.$5,500,000 tobacco and wine loan advanced by the Pacific Development Company. The Ministry of Finance and the Tobacco and Wine Bureau have agreed to hand over $500,000 to the representatives of the American bankers provided the time of redemption of the entire loan is further extended by three months. To this condition, the company is said to have agreed, according to a private telegram.

The default in the repayment of the loan, which fell due in November, 1921, during the Conference on Limitation of Armaments in Washington, caused many stories to be spread in the American capital by Japanese and other propagandists and the cry for international control of China's finance was publicly raised by the American press.

The State Department in Washington was reported by the press to have threatened the withdrawal of Peking's recognition on account of the default. Secretary of State Hughes finally was compelled to issue an official statement emphatically denying that such a move was even contemplated.

Taylor Marder Clue Proves Vain

(Special To The China Press)

Los Angeles, March 20.—The "war buddy" hunt now has put another angle on the many faced mystery which surrounds the slaying of film director Taylor since the police have captured a former Canadian soldier who they assert is implicated.

The man does not deny that he was in Taylor's company overseas, but the police, who are withholding his name, say he has entered an energetic denial of any knowlege that might throw light on the crime.

Police hints of a sensational disclosure that was to come through the capture of the "faithless war-buddy" have not reached the verification stage and they are still as much in the dark as before as to Taylor's slayer and the real causes that led to the crime.

March 21, 1922

Spot bar silver was unchanged and forward up ⅛d. in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 6⅝ cents, and the London-New York cross rate to 438.

The only changes in the official quotations here this morning were a drop in the Gold Dollar rate to 69½, and in the Yen rate to 68¼.

As, however, the market was firm from the opening, the Sterling rate was subsequently raised to 3-2½, the Gold Dollar rate to 70¼ and the Yen rate dropped to 67¼. Our market today was very firm, particularly for Sterling.

At the opening there were sellers of Sterling at 3-2½ for March-April and 3-2⅝ for May-June. Later on in the morning, however, there were good sellers at 3-2⅝ for March-April and 3-2⅝ for forward delivery.

In the early part of the morning Gold Dollars were done at 72¼ for March and 72 for April. However, later on in the day there were sellers at 72½ for March and 72⅝ for April.

The general undertone of the market throughout the day was very firm indeed, with banks unwilling buyers. The Continent sold a small amount of silver in London yesterday and India bought. The market there, as well as in New York, is reported as being steady.

Hankow Market

FINANCE

Bar Silver dropped from 33⅛d. ready 32⅜d. forward to 32⅜d. ready and 32⅝d. forward then rose to 33¾d. and 33⅛d. and dropped again to 33¼d. and 33d. T.T. on London has remained at 3s. 3d. though there have been sellers up to 3s. 4d. and even over that for cash. 4 m-s. credits have been done at from 3s. 6d. down to 3s. 5d. at which rate there are buyers today. Very little business is recorded. New York-London cross rate has dropped steadily from 438⅝ to 430⅝ but recovered today when 432⅛ is quoted. Chinese market rates: Shanghai Taels 97.4. Local currency $70.525. Native interest 7½ percent per annum.

EXPORTS

The slight signs of activity which appeared recently in the export market have rapidly died away and business is again very dull. Limits from Europe are lower generally, and combined with the recent advance in exchange have rendered business almost impossible.

IMPORTS

Piece Goods:—The market is lifeless with no enquiry. Prices for whites and greys show a slight decline otherwise there is little or no change.

Yarn:—The market shows signs of improvement.

Bankers Warned To Be Chary About European Loans

(Reuter's Service)
Washington, March 20.—The Government has reiterated the warning to financiers not to place foreign loans without the knowledge of the Government.

This is regarded as another move by the Administration to compass the double object of dealing a blow to European militarism as well as securing payment of at least the interest on the loans to Europe made during the war.

If this warning is not heeded, the next step is expected to be an application from the executive to Congress for legislation empowering the Government to deal with foreign loans, marking the adoption of a policy placing the enormous wealth of the nation in the hands of the Government as an instrument for the development of its foreign relations.

"A Gentleman Of The Empire"

By E. P. GRAHAM-BARROW

"According to his virtue let us use him."

A Gentleman of the Empire has shuffled off his earthly coil and gone to that undiscovered country from whose bourne no passenger returneth. While here.

"His life was gentle, and the elements
"So mixed in him that nature might stand up
"And say to all the world, "This was a man!"

Sir Everard Fraser lived and worked in a Settlement comprising members of practically every nationality under the Sun. Well may it be called "International." When we awoke yesterday morning to hear of his sudden departure from our midst, there was not a man or woman, no matter the nationality, who did not feel that they had lost one who had striven in many difficult years to make this International Settlement not only a Model City but a model to the world of international good will and accord.

"In quietness and confidence shall be your strength.

So wrote the Prophet Isaiah.

It was in quietness and confidence that Sir Everard Fraser during the dark days of the Great War inspired an optimism in his fellow countrymen that could only result in an increased prestige for the British Empire in the Far East, and that appreciation of his personality which has become so manifest during the last few hours.

A deep student, without doubt one of the finest scholars in the Far East! I well remember his intimate talks on "Balance." I cannot forget his deep insight into things spiritual and philosophic when in conversation with his friend the late Rev. Price, formerly sub-dean of Holy Trinity Cathedral. His firm grasp upon the literature and history of his own country as well as China gave him a knowledge of the deeds and souls of nations that made him an ideal consul.

But student that he was, he was too human to allow the silent voices of printed pages to deafen his ears to the music and laughter of his fellow men.

Seldom did a Saturday afternoon pass that did not see Sir Everard watching the strokes of a batsman; the bowling of a trundler; or the work of a fieldsman. His interest in all sports was the natural outcome of him who was a thorough sportsman.

In many of his public utterances during the War he proved himself to be an idealist. But practical withal, he was able to convert the ideal into reality.

He has gone, and yet leaves behind him the character of the happy warrior, who in his labors for his country cannot but inspire those who follow after.

It was of men like Sir Everard Fraser that Tennyson was able to write in his noble tribute to Queen Victoria:

And statesmen at her council met
Who knew the seasons when to take
Occasion by the hand, and make
The bounds of freedom wider yet."

Today the body will lie in Holy Trinity Cathedral; tomorrow it will be carried to its last resting place; but in the years to come his work, his sympathy, his acute sense of duty, and his example, will impel us to remember with deep regard and thankfulness. A Gentleman of the Empire.

Correspondence

CHAPEI WATERWORKS

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS

Sir,—On Monday last we were surprised to find a bit of very amusing news about ourselves and especially our engineers in the Shun Wan Pao, acknowledged to be translated from the correspondence section of your paper dated March 12, 1922, in which Mr. "Desiccated" availed himself of the medium of your paper to vindicate a personal grievance apparently out of sheer detestation of the non-gratifying reply of our office to his telephonic perfunctory inquiry as narrated in his letter now published.

Since the publication of Mr. Desiccated's letter, inquiries from many of our customers coming from all quarters to ask whether our office is opened in the morning as the general public has led to believe that our engineer will not be up from bed until noon. No sensible person will believe that an engineer of a waterworks has such a good time as to nap himself in the middle of the day when "water refuse to flow three feet above the ground." Should this be true and should the engine be started after the engineer's doze is over, the natural outcome would be that no water would flow from the taps at all and the residents of Chapei would be left waterless for at least half a day and that all the pipes would be dry in the morning.

It is really futile for us to refute what had been said more of Chapei until we are acquainted with this gentleman's name so that we may be in a position to serve him and his factory with wide-awake promptitude in the future if more systematic is not to be expected of us. To make matters simple, we would say to our future critics that the Chapei community is not easily misled and that no one expects sine cura here in Chapei as far as waterworks is concerned. Yours truly,

The Engineering Department,
CHAPEI WATER & ELECTRICITY WORKS DEPARTMENT

P. S. We shall thank you if you will let us know your correspondent's true name and address so that we may exactly know how to serve him better.
March 18, 1922.

YANGTSZE WHARF CASE

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS

Sir,—Mr. K. K. Chim may not, as he says, be wholly ignorant of the real facts concerning the case of the Yangtsze Wharf, but his knowledge of them is neither accurate nor complete.

The Kaiyosha Company has never been notified that the Chinese Government proposes to seize their Wharf forcibly and has therefore had no need to ask that this operation be delayed. It is true that, long ago, the Chinese Government did raise the question of repairs in connection with the renewal of the lease. The Company in reply stated, and offered to submit figures for verification, that more than Tls. 22,000.00 had been expended by them on repairs on the property. The Government never took any steps to verify the state of repair or the amount expended by the Company upon them, but continued to receive rent, which it could not have done had it considered, as it now suggested, that the tenancy was at an end.

The option to which Mr. Chim refers, was an integral part of the lease. Under the terms of the lease the Company has the option of renewing the lease from time to time, and it is this option which the Company is trying to enforce.

Mr. Chim's fourth paragraph is judiciously vague. Which is the "Peace Treaty" to which he refers? Where is made by treaty any provision applicable to this Wharf? The Government is under no obligation in consequence of any treaty to restore the Wharf to Germany or to dispose of it otherwise, and it is only under such circumstances that, by the terms of the lease, the tenancy determines.

Was there ever a less felicitous quotation than that with which Mr. Chim concludes? Here are two parties to a contract, one of which (according to Mr. Chim) proposes to decide a dispute as to the contract by force, rather than by law or diplomacy. It is on behalf of that party that Mr. Chim ingenuously asserts his belief that "right is might and not might is right"!

Let it be hoped that the Chinese Government, while sharing Mr. Chim's beliefs, may be more ready than he would seem to be to live up to them! We are, Yours faithfully,

The Kaiyosha Co.,
S. MIYATA,
Managing Director.

MAH CHANG

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir.—During the past year I have observed with interest the rapidly increasing popularity among foreigners of our national Chinese game, MAH CHANG, and in this connection there are one or two points on which I should be glad to receive enlightenment.

Why do the majority of foreigners persist in playing the game incorrectly and why do they persist in the use of the awful word "MAH JONGG"? I shudder every time I hear it or have it thrust before my offended eyes in print.

Now there can be only one correct way to play MAH CHANG, Chess, Tennis or any other game, Chinese or foreign, and I can say frankly that unless Mah Chang is played correctly the player loses a great deal of the interest and pleasure he should derive from it. Those who wish to get the maximum of real pleasure and science from this fascinating game should learn to play it as it is played by the Chinese. Our people have worked out the fine points of the game by the application to it of years of experience and I venture to say there is very little room for improvement or alteration. Every detail of the game has a definite purpose and any detail altered or omitted detracts something from the game. Yours truly,

Belles Tint Faces To Match Gown Colors

Orange, mauve, and cobalt blue are three favorite shades now employed by the woman who desires to "make-up" her face, according to the approved beauty standards.

Women need no longer appear with their every-day faces beneath artificial light. Varieties of cosmetics are so numerous, and women's latent artistic talent now so thoroughly awakened that they can transform their faces almost beyond recognition.

Face coloring to match frocks and cushions can be done perfectly, provided the woman has the right touch and the right eye for harmonious tinting.

A quarter of an hour is the time an assistant at the Academie de Beaute, North Audley street, considers necessary for the average woman to take over the complete process of making-up, but the business is full of complications, and accuracy and judgment are essential for success.

"First of all, the woman who is about to make up her face cleanses her skin with a special cream, after which she applies a lotion to remove traces of the cream. Then she uses water cosmetics for the eyes—black for a dark woman and brown for a fair one. Special drops are also prepared to make the eyes brilliant.

"She next uses various shades of pastels for the eyelids, using a powder blue to achieve a deep effect. A paste rouge is applied to the cheeks—orange is now used for young people's complexions.

"Mauve powder is then dusted across the rouge and well rubbed in until it gives the mother-o'-pearl effect that is so fashionable. Liquid rouge or paste is applied to the lips, which is always worked on towards the middle, never towards the ends. The powder is carefully removed from the lashes and the brows are combed into a straight line. Little patches can be worked on if desired."

Green is one of the few shades that has not been used for the face, as it has been found that it is effective only on the sea.

Capitalist And Farmer Must Co-operate, Says Otto Kahn

BY OTTO H. KAHN
(Famous Banker and Economist)

The most essential thing for all our people to recognise is that in the last analysis we are all in the same boat and sink or swim together. The most helpful thing to set prosperity going again is to carry that recognition into practise by broadminded and well-conceived co-operation, instead of blaming our adversity on the other fellow and trying to get even with him.

There is no adequate economic reason, notwithstanding the huge waste and destruction wrought by the late war, why the world, and particularly this favored country, should not now resume the road of prosperity. But in order to do so we must take a hard pull together; we must give full and free scope to the forces of energy and enterprise instead of cramping, shackling and hampering them, and we must let ourselves be guided by the tested lessons of economic truths instead of giving ear to plausible fallacies, or permitting ourselves to be led into precipitate actions under the influence of temporary conditions.

JUSTICE FOR FARMERS

Every right-minded business man must be desirous to have the legitimate grievances of the farmer—and he has, and long has had such—redressed and remedied.

Justice demands that this should be done. The larger interests of the nation demand it, for it is harmful and menacing to the commonwealth that so numerous and so valuable a portion of the population should feel discontented and resentful and be without.

The enlightened selfishness of business requires it, for not only does the material well-being, or the reverse, of the farmer largely react upon business, but experience has shown that when the farming industry is in the throes of depression, the farmer is very likely to blame business and to hit out at business and to get himself in a frame of mind of which the well-meaning, self-deceived purveyor of political and economic nostrums or the cunning demagogue are only too ready to take advantage.

It is manifest that the representatives of farming communities and State must know better than most business men, and particularly business men of the East. These men are not only not to be criticised; on the contrary, they are to be commended for using their votes and their influence to get remedial measures enacted into law and to obtain for the farmer a square deal.

DANGER OF UNWISE LAWS

To that extent that we business men are in discord with the agricultural leaders in and out of Congress, it is not because of their efforts to promote the welfare of the farmer, which efforts we cordially approve and endorse, but because not a few of them seem to be acting under the impression, in certain respects at least, that it is possible to aid some sections and callings of our common country by hurting others.

Granted that it be true that business in the past has not been sufficiently considerate of, and interested in, the needs of agriculture, is that any reason why agriculture should now take the same regrettable and harmful attitude toward business? While "turn about is fair play," it is by no means always the wisest and most effective play. In the present stage of this nation's and this world's affairs, it is a kind of play which can be indulged in only to the grave detriment of all concerned.

Among the things which, as I understand it, the farmer most needs, are more adequate financial facilities and broader markets. Business can and should help to attain these things for him, but the accomplishment of these objects has been rendered more difficult and uncertain by the attitude which the legislative leaders of farming constituencies in the last Congress took in respect to tax revision, against the advice of President Harding, one of the truest and wisest friends the farmer ever had, and will be further impeded and retarded if certain measures now urged upon Congress come to be enacted.

BEST WAY TO REMEDIES

I am far from questioning the ability, the worthy purpose and the well-meaning intent of those men. I do venture to question whether, in their righteous zeal to aid agriculture out of its present depression, they have given sufficient study and reflection to economic laws and economic history.

An apparent short-cut is not always the surest or straightest road to the aim in view, especially in matters of legislative enactments concerning business, with their complex effects and counter-effects. A monkey-wrench is a useful tool, but it is proverbially likely, if wielded by insufficiently practised hands, to be dropped into the machinery, with troublesome consequences.

If it happens that adversity befalls a great branch of our national activities or particular sections of our country, whether due to factors of an avoidable character or to an unfortunate combination of uncontrollable circumstances, the remedy is not to get even by striking angrily at other callings or other sections or to base hasty legislation on temporary conditions.

The remedy is to sit down together and by calm and well-meaning comparison of views diagnose the case, determine the causation of the trouble and act in unison in finding and applying antidotes for the present and preventive measures for the future.

GET THE FARMERS' VIEWS

Statistics over many years have demonstrated strikingly that agricultural prosperity and business prosperity, and agricultural depression and business depression, run on parallel lines and are largely interdependent. Unfortunately that truth has not been sufficiently recognised as yet by either party. On the contrary, they have usually been at loggerheads and pulling in different directions, when, as a matter of fact, they are natural allies, and both have much to gain from sympathetic understanding and co-operation.

In a recent article, published in the New Republic, Professor David Friday gives the following table:

Year.	Value of all farm products.	Value created by manufacture.
1899 ..	$4,717,000	$4,831,000
1904 ..	6,122,000	6,293,000
1909 ..	8,558,000	8,529,000
1914 ..	9,895,000	9,878,000
1919 ..	24,982,000	25,500,000

The professor adds: "It is hardly believable that the correspondence between these two sets of figures, prepared by two different Government departments entirely independently of each other, should coincide by mere accident over a period of more than two decades. * * * There seems to be much sound sense in the farmer's statement that there is an interdependence between the purchasing power of the agricultural community and the sales of the manufacturer."

SIGNIFICANT STATISTICS

The following interesting and significant set of statistics was published a few months ago by Mr. E. T. Meredith, in the North American Review, comparing the value per acre or crops realised by the farmer with the number of business failures in the year after ("the effect of a good or poor year in agriculture being always reflected in business the following year"):

	Value per acre (10 crops combined).	Failures years following crop years. (No. per each 1,000 in business).
Best in 10 years	$22.36	7.2
Second best	13.71	8.3
Third	10.80	11.0
Fourth	8.99	11.1

Or, taking the best five and poorest five years of each decade, we have:

	Best Value per acre.	Best Failures.	Poorest Value per acre.	Poorest Failures.
1880-1890	$12.05	10.8	$9.64	11.2
1890-1900	10.40	11.4	8.64	11.4
1900-1910	14.56	7.9	11.94	7.9
1910-1920	28.62	5.7	15.98	8.9
Average	$16.38	8.9	$11.55	9.9

So far from counselling an attitude of antagonism toward the farmers and their representatives, I would advise that the Congressional Committee endeavor to get into touch with the leading farm organisations and representatives of agriculture, with a view to establishing opportunities for comparisons of views, leading, it may be hoped, to an endeavor to agree upon wise and effective lines of policy and action so as to promote the essential and legitimate interests of agriculture in the only way in which they can be promoted lastingly.

That way does not run along the lines of class-selfishness or of antagonising, and doing hurt to, other interests equally essential and legitimate. The true road can only be found by following the signposts of steadfast adherence to tested principles of economic soundness and broad, enlightened consideration for the general welfare.

Wu Pei-fu Will Oppose Sun Yat-sen's Expedition

BY CHARLES A. DAILEY
(In The Chicago Tribune)

Honanfu.—Posing as a champion of the people, condemning and supporting the Peking government in the same breath General Wu Pei-fu is preparing to hold the rich provinces in central China against all comers until stable government is created.

Your correspondent has spent three days at the model camp here seeing 10,000 recruits being drilled along modern lines and has been personally shown about by General Wu.

In the seven provinces under his control General Wu has 700,000 troops with four modern arsenals and large clothing factories manufacturing munitions and equipment for a still larger force. He is rapidly becoming a power for good or evil in China, seizing revenues right and left that normally go to Peking.

"I hope I'll not have to fight," he said as he strolled along the lines of drilling troops, "but I must save China for the people. There are two other factors also claiming to represent the people, these being Chang Tso-lin in Manchuria and Sun Yat-sen. I can confer freely and come to an understanding with Chang but will not do so with Sun Yat-sen because he is a special president and not one chosen by the people. He must give up his presidential claims before I will treat with him. I entertain no other hostilities toward him.

"He is reported to be entering Hunan province bound toward Peking. Should he move forward against the soldiers I have posted in Hunan, I will fight him but I will never go after him. So long as he remains in the south I will ignore him. Only when he attempts to assert authority over the whole people of China who have never chosen him will I oppose him.

AGREEMENT WITH CHANG

"Chang Tso-lin and I disagree over the policies he adopted in saving China but since each of us recognises Peking as the legal government it is possible that we will reach an agreement. He plays his game in the north while I am endeavoring to protect the interest of central China, also including Chihli and Shantung."

It is plain to see after visiting the camp that General Wu expects war, possibly from both sides. He is spending nearly ten hours daily with his troops and works far into the night on political deals through which the outcome of the present critical situation is very likely to be decided. For instance, while an emissary of Wu Pei-fu was in Canton endeavoring to induce General Chen, military governor of Kwantung, to break with Sun Yat-sen, he having already withdrawn his military support, at the same time C. C. Wu, vice foreign minister of the Canton government and son of Wu Ting-fang, was in Mukden conferring with Chang Tso-lin regarding joint operations against Wu Pei-fu.

"JAPAN REPONSIBLE"

General Wu, who is usually frank and outspoken, carefully refrained from a discussion of this problem and also declined to make any comment upon Japan's former intriguing in Chinese politics, although he admits that he does not see any change in the situation since the Washington conference.

He would only say, "I am not concerned at the moment about the interference of Japan in China though there is no question but that she has interfered for many years, and that she is responsible in no small degree for our present troubles. Japan may well look toward her own country for the people of Japan will rise against the militarist government and there will be a revolution." This may come sooner than we expect. Then the Japanese intriguers in China will have to look after their home affairs. They might well be doing so today."

In the meantime Wu Pei-fu has been strengthening his forces in the direction of Hunan, making heavy shipments of ammunition to Yochow. He also has a large force along the Peking-Hankow railroad, from Chengchow to Paotingfu, estimated at 30,000, to furnish quick resistance to Chang Tso-lin's four brigades remaining inside the great wall. Another month may see fights in China unless political maneuvering is able to avert this.

FORECASTS WAR

General Wu has directed the governors of the seven central China provinces not to make any remittances to Peking but to create defense armies.

This seems to present a strange contrast as while he is bitterly denouncing the present government as corrupt and incompetent he said that he will support Peking against all comers until the people have had an opportunity to create a stable government.

He believes that the people are not yet sufficiently awake to the dangers of the situation to call a national convention, he being of the opinion that further disorders, including factional fighting, will be necessary before the people act.

Then he will support wholeheartedly whatever government the people choose. In the meantime he is trying to make the best out of such material as exists at Peking.

"I am very hopeful of being the instrument for the creation of a united China," he said, "but it is not the task of a day or a month. China is an ancient and vast country with interests requiring conciliation. I am classed as a militarist but from the very nature of China she must have soldiers. It is better then that we should have armies capable of defending the people's interests against pretenders and self-seekers from within and against aggressors from without. It is my hope that the soldiers in these provinces will attend to their duties without interfering in any way with the central government.

WILL NOT RECOGNISE TUAN

"I am loyal to the Peking government and will remain so until the people have an opportunity to choose its successor. I will resist to the end the efforts of Liang Shih-yi to remain as premier. I have denounced him as being under Japanese influence and also as not representing the views of the people. If Marshal Tuan, former leader of the Anfuites, becomes premier I will never recognise him.

"Though he has been under Japanese influence he has lost even their confidence. I have no personal choice in this which is a matter for the president but if I had I would select Wang Shih-chen, the minister of war under Yuan Shih-kai. He would be an honest premier, working in the interests of the people instead of himself.

"China's real problems are for her own people. Her citizens must take a genuine interest in her affairs and, uninfluenced from the outside, hold their national convention and elect a president who in turn must be a man who will select a cabinet, chosen or approved by the people. Such a convention must be spontaneous. As in America when the people rose against Great Britain, declaring their independence and establishing self-government, so in China the people must rescue their own country. If the Chinese people knew the dangers threatening from the present government they would rise against it.

SEES HOPE IN STUDENTS

"The people must first be aroused. This can only come when the people see much disorder and the country's interests imperiled. Then they will convene a national meeting. If such a conference is held too soon the result will be dangerous for a people insufficiently aroused.

"The people must first confer among themselves, then will come the call to the national convention. If the question is left to the provincial governors and like officials the same injustice existing today will continue. Men of conscience must take the initiative. They must wrest control from a group of intriguing officials.

"Commercial bodies, guilds and students must act. The military powers must hold entirely aloof, letting the schools, farmers and merchants decide the destiny of China. Only then will China free herself from the grip of intriguing politicians, and grasping militarists. I hope to see such a movement develop but anticipate further chaos and disorder before the people rise."

Anglo-Java Estates Meetings

The twelfth annual general meeting of shareholders in the Anglo-Java Estates, Limited, held yesterday at the offices of J. A. Wattie and Company, secretaries and general managers, was followed by an extraordinary general meeting.

At the general meeting, the chairman, making his annual address to the shareholders, said in part:

"The year 1921, as you are all aware, has been the most disastrous year in the history of the rubber planting industry and it is a matter of keen pleasure to your Directors to be able to come before you with accounts that in spite of all handicaps show a material profit.

"The amount of rubber harvested was 752,364 lbs. or 33 percent less than the 1920 output and the average profit per pound was only one farthing as compared with nearly six pence last year. On the other hand, I must point out to you that in spite of this enormous reduction in the output, which naturally has had the effect of increasing the cost per pound of all the overhead expenditure, the F. O. B. cost was only eight pence per pound against 7.03 pence in 1920. Every effort is being made to reduce the cost of production, and I feel sure that when your Directors come before you next year a very material reduction will have taken place.

"The coffee harvest amounted to 5,451 piculs and would have been considerably larger had it not been for the appearance in Java of an insect pest, known as the coffee borer, which eats into the pods and has destroyed large quantities of coffee all over the Island. Efforts to exterminate this pest have not so far met with any great measure of success.

"This output, nevertheless, was 2,368 piculs greater than for the previous year but unfortunately the average price realised was over F. 10 per picul less.

"The harvest of hemp also showed an increase of 2,360 piculs, but here again the price realised showed a decrease of over five guilders per picul, so that no advantage was derived from the larger crop, the profit on this culture being actually less than that realised in 1920.

DEPRESSION CONTINUES

"This year it is again impossible to give you any reliable estimate of what the current year's output of rubber will amount to as the depression in the industry still continues and measures for compulsory restriction may be adopted before many months are past. The outputs are, however, tentatively put at 1,700,000 lbs. of rubber, 3,000 piculs of coffee and 8,000 piculs of hemp.

"Referring to planting matters, both Estates are now being tapped on alternate days over half the tree, with most gratifying results as regards costs and the health of the trees.

"The gardens are having the necessary upkeep and are reported not to have suffered in any way, except perhaps in appearance, from the rigid economy that has been exercised.

"Expenditure under the heading of roads and bridges was exceptionally heavy on Limburg Estate, but I must explain to you that included in this sum is approximately Guilders 14,000 that were spent on clearing the watercourses, which continually silt up owing to the dams in the hills having been washed away, and also for a pipe line to Djeding Division where there has always been a shortage of clean water for manufacture and for the use of the Natives during the dry monsoon.

"I told you last year that the condition of the Lake on Limburg had reached such a pitch that measures would have to be taken shortly to deepen it by dredging. In June a scheme was finally decided upon and according to the latest advices it is hoped that everything will be in working order this month.

"The necessary plant consists of a bucket dredger with a capacity of 200 cubic meters per day of 10 hours, a travelling steam crane of three tons capacity, a 20 H. P. locomotive and 30 small trucks, four steel lighters to contain 35 cubic meters of mud each and the necessary railway lines with iron sleepers.

"It is intended that the dredge shall deposit the mud into the lighters, which will then proceed to the crane where the mud will be discharged into the trucks by means of a grab attachment. This mud is a valuable manure for the gardens and the function of the locomotive and trucks is to distribute it wherever needed.

"Turning now to the accounts, I will deal with those of Djarangan first.

PROFIT WAS F. 38,316.39

"The profit for the year as shown by the working account was F. 38,316.39 as compared with F. 142,206.37 last year and F. 589,668.45 for 1919. This poor result is attributable to the very much smaller crop harvested and to the low prices that prevailed throughout the year.

"After paying the audit and legal expenses, providing F. 10,000 as a reserve for income tax and crediting the Shanghai Company with the usual agency fee and selling commission, the balance transferred to the balance sheet is F. 2,587.66.

"Under the heading of development account in the balance sheet, you will see that F. 15,832.93 were spent on the immature areas on Loingoer Redjo division. This is a trifle less than was spent under this heading last year.

"The remaining capital expenditure is fully explained in the report.

"The Limburg Landen working account discloses a profit of F. 173,011.86 compared with F. 570,149.29 last year and F. 1,232,261 in 1919. The reasons for this poor result are the same as the case of Djarangan.

"After providing F. 50,000 as a reserve for income tax, writing off the difference in exchange and crediting the Shanghai Company with the usual agency fee and selling commission, the sum transferred to the balance sheet is F. 46,470.64.

"The expenditure on capital account is fully explained in the report so I will not take up your time by going over the ground a second time.

URGES LARGE RESERVE

"I do not think that there is anything in the accounts of the Shanghai Company that requires special explanation, but for the benefit of those of you who are not familiar with the accounts, I will explain in a few words the financial position of the Company on December 31.

"On this date the liquid assets of the two Dutch companies, that is, stocks of produce and stores, sundry debtors and cash amounted to F. 663,485.81 and the cash liabilities were F. 344,965.90, so that the surplus of liquid assets was F. 318,521.90 or say approximately the equivalent of Taels 159,000.—In addition to this, the liquid assets of the Shanghai Company exceeded the liabilities by Taels 182,470.08 so that the total surplus of liquid assets was approximately Taels 322,000.

"This is an enviable position to be in, gentlemen, but for a Company of this size it is essential to have a large reserve of working capital to fall back upon in case of emergency and after the experience of the past 18 months, I think that most directors of rubber companies will endeavor to gradually build up a reserve equal to at least £5 per planted acre. There is another reason for doing this which, without wishing to appear pessimistic, I think I should bring to you, notice. It seems to be pretty well established nowadays that a rubber tree has a definite useful life, the length of which depends very largely on the manner in which it is treated. Such being the case our plantations are wasting assets and it will only be prudent to set aside a certain sum each year so as to be in a position to replant each area as it ceases to be commercially productive.

"Your Directors regret that, although the balance to the credit of the Shanghai Company's profit and loss account is sufficient to pay a dividend of 12½ cents per share, they feel bound for the first time in the history of the Company not to recommend any distribution of profits.

"There is just one more point before I sit down, gentlemen, and that is the question of what number of Directors your Board shall consist of.

"Some of you may remember that when the Company was floated the Board consisted of four directors; this practice was continued until the annual meeting in March, 1916, when on the proposal of two shareholders the number of Director was increased to six and the fees to Taels 6,000.

"Now owing to the regrettable deaths of two of their number the Board finds itself once more reduced to four members, and as they feel that four Directors are adequate for all purposes, they propose that the Board shall remain at this number and thus save Taels 2,000 in fees for the Company."

Extraordinary General Meeting

At the extraordinary general meeting, the chariman said: "Gentlemen, this meeting has been called for the purpose of making a small alteration in the Company's Articles of Association so as to bring them into line with those of practically all the other local companies in the same line of business.

"As you are aware it has become the custom in Shanghai for a member of the firm of secretaries to have a seat on the Board, an arrangement which has many advantages in working.

"Under Article 79 (a) as it now stands, this is impossible without making such member a managing director, the position which I now hold. This does not appear to the Board to be a desirable course to adopt as a permanency and they have therefore convened this meeting to ask you to sanction the following alteration to Article 79 (a), which at present reads as follows:—

"'The office of a director shall ipso facto be vacated if he holds any other office under the Company except that of managing director.'

"To this it is proposed to add the words:

"'Membership of a firm which holds under the Company the office of secretaries or general managers to the Company shall not cause the office of a Director to be vacated.'"

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—
(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.
